You can show your customers their sale in both currency amounts so they can clearly compare the two options.

Know

Your customers will be confident that the final amount they pay will be in their home currency and that their card statement will match the amounts shown on the receipt.

Lock in

The transaction is completed using the latest available exchange rate, including mark-up, and will not change during the authorization and settlement of the transaction.

Supporting your currency needs everyday

Making payments is a part of everyday life, even more so when traveling. Let's create an imaginary customer called Tiffany, who is traveling from the UK to the U.S.

In flight

Following take-off from Heathrow LDN, Tiffany catches up on some last-minute work, so she pays for Wi-Fi and a cup of coffee as part of her in flight service, choosing DCC as part of the payment process offered by the attendant.

HEATHROW LDN > JFK NY

Express check-out

Reception in the hotel is hectic, so Tiffany decides to use Express Checkout to avoid delay. Knowing that she selected DCC when the pre-authorization was taken at check-in, Tiffany has peace-of-mind that her final payment will be converted, even though she's not checking-out in person.

Restaurant

In the evening, Tiffany meets some old university friends for dinner. Even when splitting the bill, she can still choose to convert her share with DCC.

Hotel check-in

Having pre-booked online, check-in is seamless on arrival at the hotel. Tiffany's also pleased to know the hotel have taken a pre-authorization with DCC on her card, so she knows all charges will be processed using the latest available exchange rate.
